

Medieval Bites - Food, Feasting and Diet

ALUMNI AND FRIENDS
THE ALUMNI FOUNDATION

Centre for Medieval Studies Postgraduate Conference 2019

Funded by: The University of Bristol Centre for Medieval Studies, The Alumni Foundation, and contributions from the departments of English, History and Modern Languages.

Friday 1st February

10:00 - 10:30	Registration and Coffee
10:30 - 10:45	Welcome address
10:45 - 12:15	First panel: "Food and Literature" (chaired by Dr. Cathy Hume)
Anna Packman (University of York) Pies and Pasties: Eating Outside and Camping in Arthurian Romance Inigo Purcell "At the mete with stron poisoun": The poisoned apple episode in Mort Roi Artu, The Stanzaic Morte Arthur and Le Morte d'Arthur George Manning (Mansfield College, Oxford) What goes in, must come out: The Skaldic Equation in the mead of poetry myth and the narrative of Egils Saga Skallagrímsonar
12:15 - 13:30	Lunch
13:30 - 14:30	Second panel: "Food and the Material World" (chaired by Alex Thomas)
Kierri Price (Bracenose College, Oxford) "A Bake Mete Opyne" - Originality, Transmission, and the Boundary of the Recipe in Late Medieval English Manuscripts Gillian Redfern (University of Manchester) The Yorkshire Moors: They are What They Eat

14:30 - 15:00	Coffee break
15:00 - 16:30	Third panel: "Food and Medicine / Medical Theory" (chaired by Prof. Ad Putter)
	Owain Nash (University of Bristol) Describing Peoples: Food, Economy, the Medical Body and Group Identities in the Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries Irene Tenchini (Queen's University Belfast) Diet, Excess and Exercise in Anglo-Saxon Medicine Geraldine Gnych (University of Swansea) We Are What We Eat: Bad Breath in the Middle Ages
16:30 - 17:00	Dr. Richard Stone - Discussion on medieval brewing techniques + taster session
17:00 - 18:00	Wine reception

19:00	Conference dinner, Bill's (Queens Road)
-------	---

Saturday 2nd February
9:30 - 10:00	Day two welcome (coffee)
10:00 - 11:15	Prof. Chris Woolgar - 'Eating, drinking and the dead in late medieval England' (introduced by Dr. Marianne Ailes)
11:15 - 11:45	Coffee break

11:45 - 13:15	Fourth panel: "Food and Religion" (chaired by Mary Bateman)
Angela Clark (University of Winchester) Lay Lenten Observance: Dietary Dispensations 1300-1509 Barbara Hargreaves (University of Durham) Food as therapy in twelfth century monastic life Lauren Cole The Religious Significance of Food to Hildegard of Bingen (1098-1179)
13:15 - 14:15	Lunch
14:15 - 15:45	Fifth panel: "Consumption and Excess" (chaired by Tabitha Stanmore)
Manuel Kamenzin (Ruhr-Universität Bochum) Deadly Bites – Medieval Chroniclers and Death at the Dinner Table Alexandra Claridge (University of Liverpool) Playing with food: Soteltes at Lancastrian feasts Matthew Gan (University of Durham) Old Norse Literature and the Art of Vomiting
15:45 - 16:45	Table discussion
16:45 - 17:00	Conference wrap up.